Winter’s Gone. Spring into Action.
It’s official. Ingleside at Rock Creek formally began a new chapter in its venerable history. The groundbreaking ceremony for the upcoming addition, Creekside at Ingleside at Rock Creek, was indeed a celebration of a dream realized. The highly anticipated groundbreaking was highlighted by keynote speaker Washington DC Mayor Muriel Bowser.

Dignitaries, Ingleside leadership and Ingleside at Rock Creek residents enjoyed a reception following the ceremony.
There is obviously something special about Creekside at Ingleside at Rock Creek since this incredible new addition is 100% RESERVED—and in record time! Consider this... that means every floorplan, every view offered, every location has enticed some of Washington DC’s most sophisticated and progressive seniors to make Creekside their new home.

Although Creekside is indeed sold out, you can still become a part of Washington DC’s premier retirement community. You can make plans to enjoy an enviable lifestyle and a secure future by reserving a spot on the Creekside Waitlist.

Meet the neighbors

Gordon and Olivia Brown

When Gordon and Olivia Brown move into their beautiful, brand-new Creekside apartment home, several of their friends will be coming with them. The Browns live just six blocks away from Ingleside at Rock Creek, and they’re looking forward to remaining in their beloved neighborhood, where they’ve lived for 54 years.

The Browns already know people who live at Ingleside at Rock Creek. “We also know a lot of people who are moving into Creekside at the same time, including our neighbors across the street and some neighbors down the street,” Olivia says.

Olivia, a native of London, England, and Gordon, a GI on leave, met on a blind date in San Francisco, where Olivia was working at the St. Francis Hotel. “I had another boyfriend in England I was going to go back to,” Olivia says. But after a three-year courtship, Gordon won her heart and they married. Gordon joined the Foreign Service after leaving the Army; for most of his career, they lived in the Middle East and raised their three children.

Now that they’re older, the Browns are ready to be free of the burdens of home ownership. “We wanted a place where you moved to once, and no matter what happened to your health, you’d be there,” Gordon says. When they move into Creekside, they’ll still be able to play tennis on the courts they’re used to, shop at the stores they know so well, and continue to enjoy Rock Creek Park. Once they move, they’ll still be right at home.

Gordon and Olivia decided to move to Creekside while they’re still able to handle things themselves.

Gordon advises: “Do it while you can. That created the timing, and the location created the choice.”
